ABOUT ME

Hello, my name is Billy Anthony and I'm a full stack developer who is currently a student at System Information for business at Ciputra University Surabaya. I really love making websites and programs that are easy to use and make it easier for users to do their jobs. Besides that, I am also interested in UI design and making the website more fancy and elegant to see. I'm easy to work with other people and I also really enjoy learning many new things about coding, whether it be HTML, CSS, or Java Script.
